A financial writer in New York shows by careful analysis of the bull movements on stocks during the past ten years that the one now in progress exceeds all the others, not merely in volume of transactions, but also in extent of gains in prices. The longest of these movements lasted for thirty-six weeks. in which time an average rise in prices of 12 points was brought about, this being at the rate of 35 cents advance a week. The average gain in all the preceding thirteen bull movements in the ten years under review has been about 78 cents a week. But in the present bull campaign the uplift of prices has averaged $2 a week for the entire active list.. This shows what a vast sum of money has been made by some, and of course lost by others, in speculative operations on the stock board.

Find Mr. Coburn sent him the addresses of several Kansas breeders, and only a few days ago received another letter from the baron announcing the fact that he had put himself into communication with the men referred to.

The reason Baron Mannetheim wrote Mr. Coburn for this information is the fact that he learned of Mr. Coburn through David G. Fairchild, son of ex-President E. T. Fairchild of the Manhattan Agricultural college, who now bears the title of agricultural explorer and pursues his researches under the United States department of agriculture.

While Mr. Fairchild was in Finland he received a great deal of help through the efforts of this baron who is one of the largest landowners of that country.

"The death of Senator Davis removes

"The death of Benator Davis removes one one of the first statesmen of the country. As chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations he took a prominent and influential part in the foreign policy of the country for some years. Senator Davis was thoroughly acquainted with international law and one of the highest American authorities on the subject of the present day. The senator's services at Paris in the negotiations of the treaty were of the highest value. He bore a leading part in the discussion before that tribunal, always acquitting himself with honor. Senator Davis was a man of genial temperament and attractive personality. His place in the councils of the nation will be hard to fill and his death is a personal loss to a wide circle of friends who were greatly attached to him." Judge Day sent a message of sympathy and condoisnes to Mrs. Davis.

In the Chinese Negotiations is

Washington, Nov. 28.—It developed to-day that the chief point in the exchanges concerning China which have been going on during the last few days among the powers relates to the wisdom of delivering an "uitimatum" to China, using the express word "uitimatum" in the text of the demand to be handed to the Chinese envoys, involving the possibility of a resulting declaration of war against China in case the demands of the uitimatum be not compiled with. It appears that some of the powers desired the express use of the word "uitimatum" in the demand relative to the decapitation or other extreme punishment of eleven of the princes and other high officials responsible for the outrages, and this view of using the most expressive term of diplomacy seems to have found favor with the ministers at Pekin. When it became known at the several capitals considerable dissent became manifest.

that it was inadvisable to proceed to the extent of an ultimatum against China, but that the demands should not be beyond what China reasonably might have the power to comply with.

The unanimity of sentiment among the powers, gives grounds for the belief that the demands of the ministers will be modified by the omission of an ultimatum, although it is not yet clear what the final attitude of the remaining powers—Germany, Austria and Italy—will be. The negotiations in this particular were carried on in London through Ambassador Choate and it is regarded as significant that one of the parties to the Anglo-German alliance should give its adherence to the moderate position advanced by the United States.

State Historical Society to Have

The executive council today did a handsome thing for the State Historical society by offering the society the entire floor space of the south wing of the fourth floor of the state house for the exclusive use of the society.

The society will accept at once and the rooms on the lower floor will be vacated. The apartments offered the society are now being completed. The rooms are handsomely finished with marble floors and wainscottings; high ceilings; plenty of light; and above all, sufficient in number to meet the society's demands. This generous and unexpected action on the part of the council came as a surprise to the society and the officers and directors are very grateful. One of the rooms given the society will be fully accommodated in every particular.
